

GOAL Supporting the planning, start-up, and expansion of school-based health centers (SBHCs) improves their capacity to serve students and the extended school community and increases students' access to care, including those from the most underserved populations within school communities. Increased access to care improves health and reduces student absenteeism, all of which supports positive academic and health outcomes for students.

